DIS Meets Ciarb: What Makes a Successful Arbitration Hub?

Classics and New Developments in Germany from an International Perspective

States compete to attract arbitral proceedings. The key is determining how to strengthen their position as a successful arbitration hub – by emphasizing traditional advantages, implementing new measures, or both. What is of particular interest to the parties and their legal advisors? We will address these questions using Germany as an example from both a German and an international perspective.

Join us for an evening of interactive discussion with distinguished speakers.
